The 22nd annual Royal Run for Research is coming up on Sunday 12 July to raise funds for clinical research at the Royal Brisbane & Women's Hospital.

Organised by the RBWH Physiotherapy Department in conjunction with the RBWH Foundation, the Royal Run for Research consists of a scenic 8km run or 6km walk taking in the City Botanic Gardens, South Bank, Kangaroo Point and the Goodwill Bridge and is suitable for any fitness level.

The Royal Run for Research is a great way to warm up on a winter's morning while raising money for life-saving research at Queensland's largest hospital. With a free healthy breakfast for all competitors following the run and fabulous prizes up for grabs, there's heaps of incentive to enter!

Entry fees start at $20 per person, $50 for a family of four and $60 for a corporate team of four (to register in the corporate category you must be from a company, four individuals cannot register in this category).

Participants are able to register online at www.rbwhfoundation.com.au or by phone at 1300 363 786 by 5pm Monday 6 July. Otherwise, participants can register on the morning of the run between 6.30am and 7.30am.
